

ABSTRACT

Locking arrangements for the side walls of rigid boxes of the foldable or removable wall type, with the boxes being made up by a bottom wall, two head walls opposing each other and two main side walls opposing each other and respectively perpendicular to the head walls, where the locking arrangements are located in the upper zone of the side edges of the side walls.